

Logistics security escort services

Security escort services are for accompanying an at-risk delivery or a person performing an at-risk delivery, from an agreed departure point to an agreed destination. Our security escort service includes guarding and protecting the delivery at the various stages of the transport.

Safe conditions for transport

Our security escort service forms part of our risk management service package. It is based on risk assessment and analysis, leading to a customised, client-oriented action plan.

The service involves creating conditions as secure as possible for a logistics transport, ensuring its safe delivery. In the case of at-risk or hazardous transports, we collaborate with the relevant authorities.

The service may be provided in Finland, abroad or in transit from one country to another. We always consider the operating environment, all other parameters relevant for the situation and the applicable legislation.

Our security escort service is provided discreetly, with unmarked vehicles. Our trained, experienced personnel wear civilian clothing appropriate for the task at hand and for the operating environment, and they are appropriately equipped.

The actual content of the service is determined according to the client's requirements and a jointly performed risk assessment.

A security escort service is typically employed when the material to be transported is:

- Valuable
- Sensitive
- Hazardous
